Singapore Banking Sector – OVERWEIGHT (Maintained)

Singapore's December domestic loan growth flat at 3.0% YoY (Nov: +2.8% YoY)

 Consumer loan growth weakened to 1.5% YoY (slowest in twelve years) due to the continued slowdown of mortgage loans to 2.0% YoY after peaking in May 2018 at 4.8% YoY.

Singapore's December domestic deposits grew 3.5% YoY, the fastest in a year (CASA -0.5% YoY; Fixed deposit +10.5% YoY).

 Singapore's fixed deposits registered the highest growth in two years at 10.5% YoY as compared to FY2018's monthly average growth of 1.6% YoY.

Singapore Banking Sector – OVERWEIGHT (Maintained)

SIBOR, SOR and Bank Savings Deposit Rate (%)

Hong Kong's December loan growth recovered to 4.4% YoY.

 HK'sproperty market continues to slow in December with both residential sales and purchase value and volume contracting 7.5% and 21.8% MoM respectively.

January's 3M SIBOR reached 11 year-high at 1.891%, up 0.54bps MoM.

 Loans take months and years to reprice, hence we will continue to see NIM expansion even if there is a pause in interest rate hikes.

Singapore Banking Sector – OVERWEIGHT (Maintained)

Investment Actions

Maintain Singapore Banking Sector at overweight.

- Continued NIM expansion and rising dividend as a share price catalyst in the next two quarters.
- Dividend support of almost 5%.
- Slower loan growth for the UOB, DBS and OCBC is expected at c.6-7% in 2019e as compared to c.8-9% in 2018e.
  - Property cooling measures, rising interest rates and slowing global growth will be headwinds in loan demand.
- The long-term trend of NIM expansion will offset some of the downsides in loans growth.
